

GEORGIA GOSSIP.

SHORT TALKS WITH THE SCRIBES OF THE COUNTY PRESS.

Grand Jury Recommendations—A Savannah Suicide—Fun in a Gainesville Barber Shop—A Georgia Horse Thief Arrested in Eugenia—The Fence Question, Etc., Etc.

The grand jury of Burke county indorses Judge R. O. Lovett for reappointment to the county judgeship. The same action was taken in regard to the re-election of Hon. Boykin Wright as solicitor-general.

Mr. Beckett, of Savannah, feels confident that the president will not delay the appointment of a judge for the southern district of Georgia much longer, and that he will make the confirmation that Mr. Goodell of Brunswick should do the errand. Mr. Goodell has been indorsed by Chief Justice Jackson and Justice Hall of the supreme bench of Georgia.

The Georgia match company of Gainesville is one of the thriving manufacturers of the state.

The Savannah News says that the young man who was shot on Saturday night, on Reynolds street, near the Thunderbolt road, intentionally made an attempt to kill himself. It was also learned that the name "Clifton Stilett" was given by his friends to conceal his real identity from the public. His real name is George C. Sutcliffe. His motive for attempting suicide is yet not fully known. At the time of the shooting he was under the influence of liquor, but afterwards expressed regret that he did not succeed in killing himself. Sutcliffe is well known in Savannah, where he was born, and is reported to be a boyish character.

Mr. G. S. Speer, clerk of Henry county, lost between seven and eight hundred dollars last year trying to raise cotton, and has decided to abandon it altogether. His entire crop this year will consist of corn, wheat, and oats.

The Forsyth authorities are beginning to catch on to the incendiaries who have been burning up that town by piecemeal and at will. One of them was arrested Saturday and on Monday was sent ready for the preliminary trial, but the defense delayed further time.

Gainesville Southern: Last Saturday night W. R. Mueller, who was in town, went into Dan Sutcliffe's barber shop and began railing at the colored boy, frightening him. A negro woman, who was a strange acquaintance of Mueller, who wanted him to be to Mr. Wheeler turned upon him threatening to kill him with a paper weight, and Mueller fled. The negro then tried to quiet her, and in a loud manner to shoot him. The badly scared negro ran to a neighbor, who had a gun, and shot the negro down. He then ran off. Those who witnessed it were very much impressed by her bearing power and her unwillingness to leave old Georgia.

At the present day, under our oppressive revenue laws, Pardon this digression, as I have intimated, the women, or "squaws," as I have called them, do all their work in the small patches they enclosed by plowing brush around them. They mainly cultivated the yellow Indian corn, and the pumpkins family run their own "mill," which consisted of a mortar in which the corn was powdered until brought to the consistency of a pot and boiled, and this, I may say, was their principal diet. They called it "conneah."

Georgia by Wire. —
THE NEWS OF THE STATE BRIEFLY CHRONICLED.

Meeting of the Central Farmers' Club of Decatur.—The Fence Case in DeKalb County—Arrest of the New Bad Law in Dodge County—Arrest of a Swindler in Savannah—Athens Affairs.

Specials to The Constitution.

CLEVELAND, February 6.—Mrs. Ruth M. Logan, the widow of U. H. Logan, deceased, was married on Friday last to M. S. Hart, Dr. A. F. Underwood officiated.

CLAYTON, Georgia.

CLAYTON, Fulton County, February 6.—Married at the residence of the bride's father—H. W. Cannon, seven miles south of Clayton, January 31, by Lafayette Wall, ordinary, Miss Savannah B. Cannon to James E. Blackley, all of said county.

AUGUSTA, Georgia.

AUGUSTA, February 6.—The mass meeting of the depot hand at the Martetta and North Georgia railroad was transferring a box of eggs, containing some 25 dozen, he let it fall, breaking them all in the mud beside the track.

Mrs. Sallie Camp, in this place, who has been raised to raise a fund to fee lawyers to contest the recent election was a failure. Only about $40 was subscribed, and it is probable that nothing more will be said about the contest.

R. S. Agnew, formerly of Augusta, died Saturday, January 28, at Columbia, South Carolina.

Local securities in much better demand and prices advanced.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Last Monday night as the depot hand at the Martetta and North Georgia railroad was transferring a box of eggs, containing some 25 dozen, he let it fall, breaking them all in the mud beside the track.

Mrs. Sallie Camp, in this place, who has been raised to raise a fund to fee lawyers to contest the recent election was a failure. Only about $40 was subscribed, and it is probable that nothing more will be said about the contest.

R. S. Agnew, formerly of Augusta, died Saturday, January 28, at Columbia, South Carolina.

Local securities in much better demand and prices advanced.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—The new road law is to be tested in Dodge County. The commandos slingers met here yesterday and elected C. W. Riddle, a resident for the county at a salary of twenty dollars per month. A tax of $2.50 percent was levied upon all who are subject to road duty. This will be sufficient to meet upwards of over $1,000 per month, and will make better condition than they have been heretofore.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Elated from Cochran last night and married here at the Ashburn house this morning, Mr. John Rogers and Mrs. C. W. White. The bride is about fifteen years old, and the wife of C. R. Boyd, Mrs. Dr. Seymour, Mrs. P. W. Alexander, Mrs. J. B. Glover, Mrs. A. McRae, Mrs. B. L. Frazer and Josie Fletcher.

The wedding was held at the home of the bride's parents, who are now dead.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Last night a party of men who were engaged in the business of trapping made a pleasure tour of the Merita and North Georgia railroad from here to the present terminus. The party consisted of Mr. G. W. Howell of this city, returned last night from a visit to Chattanooga, Tennessee, and his son, a young lad, who had been attending school there.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect beauties. The female is not two years old yet and is giving milk. They have the milk and butter qualities and are also very large. The male is twenty one months old and look like he might be thirty. No sooner had we got them home than we had to move to Atlanta.

Several new buildings are going up in the next man and there is talk of still others in the next future.

EARLSTON, Georgia.

EARLSTON, February 6.—Searched for a pair of hose last night from Ohio. They are perfect

THE RAILROADS.

THE HEADLIGHTS RUNNING INTO ATLANTA.

Augusta Refuses to Allow the Fort Royal and Augusta and Knoxville Lines to Connect by Track Through the City—Track Laying Between Social Circle and Gainesville—Notes.

The railroad commission will meet this morning at 9:30 to hear what the mill and grain men and others along the line of the Central road have to say in the matter of the proposed increase of rates on classes "C, D, and F."

In future sportmen leaving the city will probably take the Georgia Pacific road and do their hunting and fishing along the Coosa. The Cooper river country abounds in deer, wild geese and fish.

HARD AT WORK.

MONTGOMERY, Ga., February 6.—The railroad commissioners are hard at work, laying the track of the Gainesville, Jefferson and Southern railroad through the streets of our town. The little engine is a "dandy," and can pull a train of cars as rapidly as and as easily as if it were twice as large. The rails are laid in sections, each section being six miles of track to be laid before the link between Social Circle and Gainesville is completed.

TRACKS THROUGH Augusta.

Special to the Constitution.

AUGUSTA, Ga., February 6.—The committee of the whole of the city council has refused to grant the Fort Royal and Augusta and Knoxville railroads permission to connect by track through the city. It is said that they will proceed to lay the tracks immediately, in order to test the matter in the courts, as they claim a constitutional right to make such connection.

OLD RUMOR ON ITS TRAVELS.

The rumor concerning the breaking up of the pool is an old thing in Atlanta, but it seems to be a brand new sensation in the vicinity of Savannah.

The newspapers railroad men and merchants of the city by the sea are engaged in breaking up the pool, and are anxious to make a showing.

The rumor has been discussed in Atlanta until it was worn to a frazzle.

More recently, however, it has been reported that Savannah would like to see the pool broken up as the war of rates following such an event would naturally benefit business in both cities. It is plain enough, however, that the railroad men of Savannah share of the railroads in this fierce competition.

At present, no prediction is in order and as it is often impossible to predict the future, we shall postpone to some extent justified in pinning into the tangled maze of speculation and guess work.

THE Buena Vista Road.

BUENA VISTA, Ga., February 6.—The surveying corps for the B. V. E. and A. road reached Buena Vista to-day. The cost of grading from Ellaville to Anderson was estimated at $2,000. The estimate from Ellaville here has not been made but the surveyor will be in the same rates. They will run back over the road to the point where the Americans had an informal agreement to the directors, viz.: That Americans would build the road to within two miles of Ellaville if Americans were made to pay.

Americans was anxious to have an interest in the road at first but the terms could not be agreed upon.

Let the Pool Go.

From the Savannah Times.

The Central has a thorough and thoroughly equipped line of its own from Montgomery to New York and Philadelphia, and the Baltimore and Ohio road will fall to back her. What has East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia beyond Norfolk West Point and Newport News? Come to think of it, will they take her business so long as it pays?

It is evident that the American road is destined to be a great power in the market for cotton, but are simply way stations, as the cotton is brought to be forwarded to the markets of Baltimore and New York.

Both the and the manufacturing towns of New England, Savannah, however, is the second cotton market in the country, is bound to come in to compete with Atlanta, and the road, now being equal and offers greater facilities to shippers than either of the points named. Where there is no road, there is no market.

It should also be borne in mind that neither the leg, and suffered excruciating agony. Two applications of St. Jacobs Oil, I say, reduced the swelling and banished the pain.

2. By the acts of 1870 and 1872 the Citizens' Bank was duly incorporated and chartered.

3. Where to a suit on a promissory note by certain plaintiffs who alleged themselves to be assignees of a bank, a plea of offset was filed to the effect that certain persons had been depositors in the bank of which the plaintiffs were assignees and receivers and that after the assignment and before the bringing of this suit they transferred to defendant for value their claim, such plea was demurrable, it nowhere being alleged that the assignees took with notice. Code, §224.

Judgment reversed.

W. R. Brown; W. L. Heyward, for plaintiff in error.

Candler &amp; Thompson, for defendants.

Neal vs. Henderson. Injunction, from Henry, Injunction, Equity, Judgments, Laches. (Before Judge Stewart.)

Blandford, J.—Where a person seeks to enjoin a judgment at law, the bill should set forth clearly and distinctly the grounds upon which the complainant's equity rest; and if it shows upon its face that the judgment at law was rendered by reason of his own negligence in not making the necessary defense, a court of equity will not grant relief by injunction. Code, §3129; Woodward vs. Dromgoole, decided-to-day.

(a). Where, after the foreclosure of a mortgage, the defendant filed an affidavit of illegality to the execution process, upon the ground that it had been paid, and the attorney for whom the affidavit was passed upon by a jury who found in favor of the plaintiff in fa, upon a bill then filed to enjoin the execution, an injunction should have been refused.

Judgment reversed.

John L. Tyre; Marshall J. Clarke, for plaintiff in error.

E. Reagan, for defendant.

Bell vs. Love. Complaint for land, from Fulton, Guardian and Ward. Evidence, Ordinary. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Letters of guardianship can be granted only at a regular term of the court of ordinary. Where the proceedings showed on their face that the letters were granted by the ordinary at chambers, the appointment was made without jurisdiction.

2. There is no such thing as a guardian de facto in this state. All the acts of persons not properly appointed by a court having jurisdiction are null and void, and they are liable to the person interested for the same.

(a). The equitable rights of the parties are not decided.

Judgment reversed.

Reed, Reinhardt & Arrowood; B. F. Abbott, for plaintiff in error.

Myatt &amp; Howell, for defendant.

The Supreme Court.

Headnotes of Decisions Rendered Saturday, February 2, 1884.

Cincinnati & Georgia Railroad vs. Mims et al. Appeal from Fulton Street, Atlanta, Ga.; Title, Boundaries, Husband and Wife, Evidence, Railroads. Eminent Domain. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—If one is the owner of land, he who says and does in respect to the boundary thereof may be proved, and his agreements in respect thereto will bind subsequent purchasers from him; but after an owner of land has parted with his title, his subsequent sayings and acts cannot be used as an alibi.

Judgment reversed.

Spear & Simmons; J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson &amp; King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

Judgment affirmed.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson &amp; King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

Judgment affirmed.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction, Judgments. (Before Judge Hammond.)

Blandford, J.—Equity will not interfere to set aside a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, except where the party has a good defense of which he was entirely ignorant.

J. C. Hendrix, for plaintiff in error.

J. L. Conley; Jackson & King, for defendants.

Woodward vs. Dromgoole. Injunction, from Fulton, Equity, Injunction

THE CONSTITUTION: ATLANTA THURSDAY FEBRUARY 7, 1884

THE CONSTITUTION.

PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION is published every day, except Monday, and is delivered by carriers in the city, or mailed postage free at $1 per month, or $10 for three months, or $18 a year.

THE CONSTITUTION is for sale on all trains leaving out of Atlanta, and at news stands in the principal southern cities.

ADVERTISING RATES depend on location in paper, and will be furnished on application.

CORRESPONDENCE containing important news solicited from all parts of the country.

ADDRESS all letters and telegrams, and make all drafts or checks payable to:

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 7, 1884.

INDICATIONS for the south Atlantic states: local rains, cooler, partly cloudy weather, southerly winds, shifting to northerly, in northern portions nearly stationary, followed by rising barometer.

ONE vigilant association out west is supposed to have disposed of eleven objectionable characters in such a way that they will never be heard from again.

COLONEL JOHN P. FORBES announces his abandonment of the law for the farm. He has discovered the secret of winning wealth from the soil. At the same time he has been a public benefactor to his section.

THE ROUT of Baker Pasha by the Egyptian rebels seems to have been quite as disastrous as that of Hicks Pasha. There is increasing evidence that England will seize the first opportunity to get rid of the whole trouble.

A NEW bankruptcy bill will be proposed in the senate this week, which will provide that one can go to bankruptcy with two hundred and fifty dollars indebtedness. It will exempt one thousand dollars' worth of property.

An alarming feature of the present rise in the great river is its rapidity. While the waters have not yet reached the height of last year in many places, yet they seem to be creeping up into the second stories at a rate below.

MR. BLACKBURN, the new senator from Kentucky, was born in Woodford county, Kentucky, on the first of August, 1838. He graduated from College Centre in 1857, was admitted to the bar in 1858, entered the confederate army in 1861, remained practice in 1865, entered the state legislature in 1871, and became a member of the forty-fourth congress, and has been successfully re-elected ever since.

THE TENNESSEE RIVER.

Birmingham, Rome, Atlanta—all the districts that lie near beds of coal and iron—are trying to get in close communication with the Tennessee river. And Chattanooga is included in the list. The river flows by her doors, but its flow is interrupted by rocks and falls not far below, and so a convention has been called to meet in Chattanooga on the 12th proximo, to take steps to secure appropriations by congress to complete the work of opening the river "from its mouth to its source and to keep it open for all time free from any tolls or tribute whatever." A large convention is expected, every official from the governors down to municipal and county and trade officers having been requested to appoint delegates. The Chattanooga people assert that an appropriation of one million will open the river within a year. A great deal of work has been done, about $3,000,000 having been expended. This amount is dead capital on account of the want of an additional million. The size of the river and the traffic that would be attracted to it, certainly justify the appropriation asked for. Birmingham will not, however, have to await the overcomer of the Muscle Shoals, and Rome hopes to get a railroad to the open river. Hence perhaps the impatience of Chattanooga. But the river should be opened, and there is really no reason why the work should not be vigorously carried on and speedily finished.

THE MORRISON BILL.

The esteemed Courier-Journal wants to know what The Constitution thinks of the Morrison bill, as the democratic platform on the tariff. This inquiry, taking all the circumstances into consideration, is about as vague as the ideas of those who are proposing a tariff reform with a protectionist and a protection president in the way. Editor Watterson, in his telegram to his paper, declares that the Morrison bill, in all likelihood, is not now what it will be after it has been trimmed and adulterated by those who propose to discuss the measure in the house. "The debates which are to follow," he says, "will formulate and phrase the tariff plank in the next democratic platform, though less than a demand for a revenue-only plank is rarely known here."

This being true—and if it is not true, the fault is Editor Watterson's, and ours—not the esteemed Courier-Journal intends to ask us what The Constitution thinks of "the debates that are to follow" as the "democratic platform on the tariff." We are nothing if not candid, and we do not hesitate to say to our contemporaries that we know nothing of "the debates that are to follow," consequently we know not what to think of them. They may be fine and far-reaching, or they may be frivolous and dippant. We trust they will be all that the Courier-Journal desires.

We do know, however, that they will not advance the cause of real tariff reform in any measure or degree. The discussion will be full of buncome and confusion, and then the whole of it will be swallowed up in the Record and forgotten, and the cause of tariff reform will stand just where it did before, and the country will be just as far from experiencing relief from excessive taxation. We can only hope that it may be no farther, though we have the doubts and misgivings that must come to those who take a practical and common sense view of the situation.

The Courier Journal may not be satisfied with this reply to its inquiry, but it is the best we can do. We shall now what to think of the Morrison bill. It has been subjected to the alterations which Editor Watterson says are to be made. But what does the Courier-Journal think of the bill as a step in the direction of practical reform? Will it become a law? Is there the remotest chance for its adoption? If not, what does it amount to?

COTTON MILLS IN THE SOUTH.

There has been during the past two years a steady decline in domestic. In that time prices have gone down fully thirty-three per cent. "Wamsutter" that sold two years ago for 13½ cents, is now retailed at 11 cents; "Lonsdale" that was worth 10½ cents at wholesale in January, 1882, is now retailed at 8½ cents. Brown goods are worth one cent less a yard, and Merrimack prints have declined from 6½ cents at wholesale to 5 cents at retail a yard. Although the list of domestics a similar reduction has taken place.

This has gone on until the margin of profit has almost disappeared, until the eastern manufacturers are compelled to choose between a stoppage of their mills or a very material reduction in wages. They are attempting to secure the latter, and the operatives threaten to inaugurate a great strike. Wages have already been reduced in the eastern mills to a very low point, and the operatives say they cannot stand any further squeezing. It is not probable that the margin of profit on cotton goods will be increased in the near future, and the New England mills must therefore fight the battle under present conditions. They are certainly not in position to be very aggressive.

Let us hope that in this transition period of cotton manufacturing, there will be no slackening in the work of building mills where the cotton is grown. Profits are not so large as they were three years ago, but they are still sufficient to meet the ideas of capitalists. If the south is to enjoy a fair share of this branch of manufacturing, now is the time to extend her facilities. Now is the time to build new mills. If we had twenty mills like the one projected at Griffin, in course of erection, the next census would fully establish our claims as to cotton manufacturing. All the south there are now about 1,300,000 spindles. To secure 2,000,000 spindles when the next census is taken, each one of the cotton states should set in motion about 100,000, or about 20,000 a year. The Griffin mill should therefore be duplicated in Georgia, and there are many towns in the state that should step to the front. Why should not Cartersville, and Marietta, and Newman, and West Point, and Barnesville, and Madison, and Greensboro, and Gainesville, and Americus, and a score of other prosperous towns have each a mill in which to manufacture the raw material that passes through their streets? The state should be dotted with cotton mills. They need not be great concerns at first; they can grow into greatness, as any well-managed mill in the country is sure to do. A little concert of action is all that is needed to build a cotton mill. No special amount of patriotism is needed, because money used in this way is not a gift, but an investment in a dividend-paying business, good management being the only essential condition.

THE COPYRIGHT BILL.

Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

THE MORRISON BILL. Mr. Frelinghuysen, the secretary of state, has written a letter to the secretary of the American Copyright League which is highly creditable to his understanding, as well as to his desire. After describing the legal and technical difficulties that stand in the way of the negotiation of a formal copyright treaty with any foreign country, Secretary Frelinghuysen has written to his colleagues in the Senate that "it is said that some means which could be effected by some means which give every country to the foreign author the same rights as it gives to its own." He does not, however, accept this as a sufficient basis upon which to base a formal copyright, and it is not easy to see why an international copyright could not be based upon the same principles. John G. Longstreet, a friend of mine, has suggested that the copyright of each country be left to the courts of that country to decide what is to be done with it. This is a good suggestion, and I hope it will be adopted.

SAVE MONEY
BY BUYING YOUR
DIAMONDS, WATCHES, JEWELRY
—
A. F. PICKERT

No. 5 WHITEHALL ST., ATLANTA, GA.
The largest stock of the finest Silver-plated Ware will be found at No. 5 Whitehall street. There all make and arranged to give satisfaction for twenty years wear. Do not fail to see these goods before buying. Remember the place.
A. F. PICKERT,
No. 5 Whitehall Street.

LYCETT'S ART SCHOOL
—
CHINA DECORATING WORKS.

LESSONS IN CHINA PAINTING, OIL AND
Water Color Painting, Embroidery, etc.
Firing and Gilding for amateurs & specialty.
Dealers in Fine Art materials, China, etc.
See W. C. for circulars.

COTTON AND WEATHER.

GORROSS—Midland uplands closed in Liverpool yesterday at 10:15 A.M.; New York at 10:45; in Atlanta at 10:30 A.M.

Daily Weather Report.
ORIGINATOR'S OFFICE, SIGNAL CORPS U. S. A.
U. S. COMPTON HOUSE, February 6, 10:30 P.M.
All observations taken at the same moment of time at each place named.

NAME OF STATION.	Barometer.	Thermometer.	Wind.	Weather.
Atlanta.	30 12 62	67	W. Fresh	Cloudy.
Augusta.	30 13 65	66	S. Light	Cloudy.
Gainesville.	29 90 66	66	S. Fresh	Light rain.
Indiana.	29 87 65	65	S. Fresh	Cloudy.
Tampa.	30 04 65	65	N. W. Fair	Clear.
Mobile.	30 04 65	65	S. Fresh	Fair.
Montgomery.	30 05 65	65	S. Fresh	Cloudy.
St. Louis.	30 05 65	65	S. Fresh	Cloudy.
Pensacola.	30 06 68	67	S. Fresh	Fair.
Pelham.	29 99 66	45	N. W. Fresh	Cloudy.
Savannah.	29 99 66	45	N. W. Fresh	Light rain.
				Cloudy.
LOCAL OBSERVATIONS
Time of observation.
6:11 a.m.	30 08 55	50	S. W. Fresh	Foggy.
10:30 a.m.	30 12 69	56	S. W. Fresh	Fair.
2:30 p.m.	30 13 65	65	S. Fresh	55 Lt. rain.
6:21 p.m.	30 09 62	60	S. Fresh	60 Cloudy.
10:31 p.m.	30 12 62	60	S. Fresh	60 Cloudy.
Mean daily bar.	30 08 57	54	M. Minimum ther.	64.0
Mean daily temp.	54.0	54.0	Max. ther.	64.0
Mean daily min.	53.3	53.3	Total rainfall.	0.0

The weather at other points 7 a.m.: Augusta, temperature 58, weather clear; Mobile, 64, cloudy; east 58, fair; Birmingham, 61, cloudy; Vick厉ton, 60, cloudy; Palatka, 67, cloudy; Cincinnati, 46, light rain; Chicago, 32, heavy snow; St. Louis, 32, cloudy; Omaha, 10, cloudy; Bismarck, 10 below zero, clear; Key West, 72, clear.

Watch is rapidly improving all others where accuracy is desired. Very low prices for fine time-pieces. Send for catalog.

J. P. Stevens
Watch Co.,
ATLANTA, GA.

MEETINGS.

Masonic Lodge.

"Young Mrs. Winthrop."

Quite a large and fashionable audience assembled at the opera house last night to witness the only production in this city of Howard's play entitled, "Young Mrs. Winthrop." The plot of the play has already been told in these columns. Mr. J. Bullock, in the leading male role, as "Young Winthrop," is a man who is wrapped up in his business, and neglects his wife. This wife, "Oo-oo-sance," impregnated by Miss Estelle Clayton, is left to her own devices, and manages to get into society which is considered fast. There she finds him, and, after a series of scenes, becomes aquainted with a certain "Mrs. Dunham." A thoughtless lady, Mrs. Dick Chetwynd, who is impregnated by Miss Estelle Clayton, goes to town to meet her, and the result is, "Mrs. Winthrop" applies for separation, and Mr. William Giese comes into the play in the character of "Mrs. Winthrop's" husband, and a clear management, and a clear heat, does it matters until both husband and wife find out that everything is not as it appears.

The plot of the play is slender. There is no thought undoes the piece. The story is told in a very simple manner, and the result is, "Mrs. Winthrop" applies for separation, and Mr. William Giese comes into the play in the character of "Mrs. Winthrop's" husband, and a clear management, and a clear heat, does it matters until both husband and wife find out that everything is not as it appears.

The plot of the play is slender. There is no thought undoes the piece. The story is told in a very simple manner, and the result is, "Mrs. Winthrop" applies for separation, and Mr. William Giese comes into the play in the character of "Mrs. Winthrop's" husband, and a clear management, and a clear heat, does it matters until both husband and wife find out that everything is not as it appears.

We received some choice new things in Neckwear for Ladies, which is to be a novelty this coming spring. Call and see them.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. P. Hunter, Dentist, 61 Wheat street.
Mr. W. G. Brown, Dr. W. G. Brown, N. C. M. Smith.
Mrs. W. H. Selden of Washington, D. C. is in the city visiting Mrs. E. C. Peters, at St. Martin's street.
Mr. Miller & Wood have removed to the Gate City, between Peachtree and Broad streets of Alabama and Peachtree streets. Entrance from Peachtree street.

The first of the season, J. G. Jones, merchant in the dry-goods business, has already received his spring stock of fine goods. They are a selection well worth looking at.

A New York.

The aldermanic board was in session yesterday discussing the appropriations for streets. A proposal was made to widen Wheat street from Peachtree by removing one of the buildings now on the corner. The board adjourned to meet to-day at 10 a.m., when the matter will be more fully discussed.

Street Lamps.

Mr. Mote Simmons, the new lamp lighter, is getting things in a swing and reports that complaints are now few and far between. The complaints that are looked against the oil lamps with which he has nothing to do.

SAVANNAH.

The aldermanic board was in session yesterday discussing the appropriations for streets.

A proposal was made to widen Wheat street from Peachtree by removing one of the buildings now on the corner. The board adjourned to meet today at 10 a.m., when the matter will be more fully discussed.

SAVANNAH.

Betsy Reed, a negro woman living on West's alley, died suddenly last night at six o'clock, of dropsy.

Persons recovering from wasting diseases, such as malaria, fevers, etc., will be greatly benefited by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters, a true tonic.

CHAMBERLIN, JOHNSON & CO.,
SUCCESSIONS TO
CHAMBERLIN, BOYNTON & CO.
MARKED DOWN TO CLOSE OUT.
BLACK SILKS, VELVETS, WINTER DRESS GOODS, LOT OF EMBROIDERIES, LOT OF TABLE LINENS.
ANYTHING WE HAVE IN CLOAKS AT HALF PRICE.
WHITE GOODS, REMNANTS TICKING, REMNANTS SHEETINGS, REMNANTS BLEACH DOMESTICS.
INGRAIN AND BRUSSELS CARPETS.
ALSO CALL ATTENTION TO THE
BEST STOCK SHOES IN THE CITY.
We have many goods now that we are determined to sell, and that are useful and good. Call early and take a look at them.

CHAMBERLIN, JOHNSON & CO.

VALENTINES

—
PRANG'S VALENTINE CARDS.

The most artistic assortment ever displayed in this city. Also.

A New Stock of Mouldings

—
PICTURE FRAMES.

AT PITCHFORD'S,
20 WHITEHALL ST.
(Successor to Loveloy & Pitchford.)

—
FOR

BLANK BOOKS, STATIONERY

—
AND ALL OFFICE SUPPLIES.

—
CALL AT

LYNCH & LESTER'S.

C. W. MOTES,
PORTRAIT PHOTOGRAPHER,

34 Whitehall Street.

The finest portraits in Crayon and Water Colors in the city. The

CARBON LAMBERTYPE,

The finest and most permanent picture made.

Artistic Photography in all its branches. I have the best light, finest scenery and accessories of any gallery in the city.

FINE PICTURE FRAMES A SPECIALTY.

C. W. MOTES

NEW YEAR'S GREETING TO ALL

FINEST NEW YEAR'S PRESENT

To your wife or children is a

PIANO.

CHICKERING & SONS, or KRANISH & BACH,
Upright or Square, or R. M. BENT & CO., or GULD, Upright or Square.

ORGAN.

WILCOX & WHITE, SMITH AMERICAN,
or STERLING & CO. BEST IN THE WORLD.

Don't fail to secure a bargain and best in the market, cash or time, from

F. L. FREYER,

27 WHITEHALL ST.

BANK NOTICE.

WITH A VIEW OF PUTTING THE BUSINESS

AS ONE OF THE COMMUNITIES OF ATLANTA ON THE SAME FOOTING AS ONE OF OUR CITY BANKS

OFFERS TO NON RESIDENTS

AS TO PREMIUM ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE. We understand, until further notice, will collect on papers drawn with exchange and sell

ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS

($1.50) Per Thousand Premium or Fifteen Cents per Hundred.

JOHN H. JAMES' Banker,
J. & R. J. LOWRY, Bankers,
F. W. D. L. KIRK, Cashier,
F. M. COOK JR., Cashier,
W. L. FEET, Cashier.

February 3, 1854.

CLARKE, HERBERT & CO.,
GEN'L AGTS CINCINNATI SAFE & LOCK CO.'S CHAMPION

FIRE AND BURGLAR PROOF SAFES,

PHOTOGRAPHS OR CUTS, WITH TESTIMONIALS, SENT ANY ADDRESS.

SAFES PRICED, DELIVERED ANYWHERE IN THE SOUTH.

Full Line all styles in Store—No. 20 Loyd Street, ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

THE ATLANTA NURSERIES FOR SALE.

HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED OVER 17 YEARS, WITH FINE TRADE AND GOOD REPUTATION, IS located ½ of a mile from the stirring city of Atlanta, the capital of Georgia. The E. T. Va. & Ga. R. runs directly through the Nurseries, with a freight and passenger depot about the center of the grounds. Greenhouses and Cold Frames watered by Hydraulic Pump; water from City Water Works at Peachtree and South Broad, and

EVERY FACILITY FOR A FIRST-CLASS NURSERY AND FLORIST'S BUSINESS.

A fine young stock of Fruit, Ornamental Trees and Shrubbery. Land for sale or lease. Reason for selling failing health of senior proprietor. Address, M. COLE & CO., Atlanta, Ga.

DAVID H. DOUGHERTY DAVIDII

SPOT CASH.

See our line of handsome new Black Cashmeres, on which we lay claim to save you fifteen per cent.

David H. Dougherty.

SPOT CASH.

We are going to show some big bargains this week. No credit prices asked at this Spot Cash House.

DAVID H. DOUGHERTY DAVIDII

SPOT CASH.

Will show some elegant new Hosiery for Misses Monday.

DAVID H. DOUGHERTY DAVIDII

SPOT CASH.

We received some choice new things in Neckwear for Ladies, which is to be a novelty this coming spring. Call and see them.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. P. Hunter, Dentist, 61 Wheat street.

Mr. W. G. Brown, Dr. W. G. Brown, N. C. M. Smith.

Mrs. W. H. Selden of Washington, D. C. is in the city visiting Mrs. E. C. Peters, at St. Martin's street.

Mr. Miller & Wood have removed to the Gate City, between Peachtree and Broad streets of Atlanta and Peachtree streets. Entrance from Peachtree street.

The first of the season, J. G. Jones, merchant in the dry-goods business, has already received his spring stock of fine goods. They are a selection well worth looking at.

A New York.

The aldermanic board was in session yesterday discussing the appropriations for streets.

A proposal was made to widen Wheat street from Peachtree by removing one of the buildings now on the corner.

The board adjourned to meet to-day at 10 a.m., when the matter will be more fully discussed.

SAVANNAH.

Betsy Reed, a negro woman living on West's alley, died suddenly last night at six o'clock, of dropsy.

Persons recovering from wasting diseases, such as malaria, fevers, etc., will be greatly benefited by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters, a true tonic.